Thank you for visiting the website of Healy & Associates, LLC, Certified Public Accountants. We appreciate the time you have invested in learning about our firm and the services that we provide to our clients. If you are an existing client, we hope that our website is informative and increases the value of the services that we provide to you. If you are a potential client, we look forward to the opportunity to serve your tax, accounting and financial needs.

The tax, accounting and financial information, as well as the tools and calculators, provided on our website are not intended to be a substitute for the advice, analysis and information provided by a qualified professional and tailored to your specific needs, but are intended as a starting point in your planning and decision-making process, and for information of a general nature only.

Some of the content on our website is purchased from a third party vendor, Thomson Tax & Accounting,TM a business unit of The Thomson Corporation, one of the largest global providers of financial, tax and accounting information. We chose this company's products for you and our website because we use them in our everyday practice and believe them to be generally accurate, trustworthy and up-to-date on changes in federal, state and local tax laws. However, we have no control over the provider of these materials, and cannot guarantee the accuracy, completeness or timeliness of the information provided.

Other links are to commercial, non-profit or governmental websites with whom we have no relationship and for whom we cannot vouch, but are provided to you only as a gateway to the business and tax resources of the information highway.
